Call my name. Call and I'll change.
I'll be born again – a bear.
For the thrill. For the hunt.
A wild bear, searching through the woods for you.

You left me in silence. I'm gone.
But I've held ash and dirt for too long.
Now back in anger. It's already gone.
But wilderness comes back to your arms.

Torn to shreds. Sickened by rage.
Heaven fell. Destroyed us.
Failed to see. Failed to bleed.
A wild fear forced itself upon this fool.

You left me in silence. I'm gone.
But I've held ash and dirt for too long.
Now back in anger. It's already gone.
But wilderness comes.
Wilderness comes back to your arms.
